DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 – 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Zamora et al. (GB 2227666).

With reference to claim 1, Zamora et al. (hereinafter "Zamora") discloses a tampon pledget comprising an inverted coverstock, said inverted coverstock comprising an insertion end and a removal end wherein at least one of the insertion end and the removal end has one or more pleats as set forth in figure 2.

As to claim 2, Zamora discloses a tampon pledget wherein the insertion end (34) and the removal end (32) each have one or more pleats as set forth in figure 7a.

Regarding claims 3 – 4, Zamora discloses a tampon pledget with the claimed amount of pleats as set forth in figure 2.

As to claim 5, Zamora discloses a tampon pledge further comprising a plurality of non absorbent materials and a plurality of absorbent materials as set forth on page 4, lines 4 – 21 and on page 6, lines 15 – 32.

Regarding claim 6, Zamora discloses a tampon pledget wherein the plurality of non absorbent materials and a plurality of absorbent materials are blended together as set forth on page 4, lines 11 – 14.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 7 – 11 and 14 – 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Zamora et al. (GB 2 227 666) in view of Foley et al. (US 5,817,077).

The difference between Zamora and claim 7 is the provision that the plurality of non-absorbent materials and the plurality of absorbent materials are present in a percent ratio about 25/75 to 70/30.

Foley et al. (hereinafter "Foley") teaches a tampon pledget having plurality of non absorbent materials and a plurality of absorbent materials present in a percent ratio about 25/75 to 70/30 as set forth in col. 5, lines 36 – 60.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the percent ratio of non absorbent materials to absorbent materials because this cover creates a discontinuity between the absorbent core and the vaginal epithelium thereby substantially reducing the capillary suction pressure of the absorbent core on the vaginal epithelium as taught by Foley in col. 5, lines 13 – 16.

Regarding claim 8, see the rejection of claim 7.

With reference to claim 9, Foley teaches a tampon pledget wherein the plurality of non absorbent materials includes a plurality of non absorbent fibers, and wherein the plurality of absorbent materials includes a plurality of absorbent fibers as set forth in col. 5, lines 16 - 30.

As to claim 10, Foley teaches the claimed denier as set forth in col. 5, lines 53 – 55.

With reference to claim 11, Foley teaches a tampon pledget wherein the plurality of absorbent fibers are rayon fibers as set forth in col. 5, lines 22 – 24.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the denier of the rayon fibers in order to determine the most effective product since it has been held that where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or workable range involves only a level of routine skill in the art.

Regarding claims 14 - 18, Foley teaches the use of polysorbate 20 as set forth in col. 3, lines 30 - 33.

With reference to claims 19 - 20, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the amount of surfactant present since it has been held that where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or workable range involves only a level of routine skill in the art.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1 – 46 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of double patenting over claims 1 – 30 of U. S. Patent No. 6,595,974 since the claims, if allowed, would improperly extend the "right to exclude" already granted in the patent.

The subject matter claimed in the instant application is fully disclosed in the patent and is covered by the patent since the patent and the application are claiming common subject matter, as follows: both in the instant application and U.S. Patent No. 6,595,974 are directed to a tampon pledget comprising a plurality of non-absorbent fibers, rayon fibers and superabsorbent material with the various plurality of fibers being present in specific ratios and including an external fin seal, a side seam bond and other various components.
